North American Energy Standards Board Process For Standards Development

If the request is determined to be developed by the wholesale electric quadrant, it must be reviewed by the Joint Interface Committee before development proceeds, unless the development is determined to be a joint NERC-NAESB effort

Joint Standards Development for wholesale electric issues:

- ❖ NERC and NAESB can pursue joint standards development through an agreement drafted in February 2006
- ❖ NERC and NAESB may also pursue joint publication of standards
- ❖ In joint publication, the standards must be clearly identified as either business practices or reliability standards/requirements
- ❖ The NAESB standards will be filed with the FERC
- ❖ The NERC standards will be processed through the ERO procedures
