NAESB AT A GLANCE: MONTHLY UPDATE

2009 ANNUAL PLANS: Mr. Skiba provided the update on the 2009 Wholesale Electric Quadrant Annual Plan. The Executive Committee met last Friday to review the annual plan in detail. More comments were submitted for this plan than in any previous year. The 2009 WEQ annual plan has a significant amount of work carrying over from last year, including non-deadline related work on FERC Order No. 890 and DSM-EE. A number of activities will need to be coordinated with other groups, including NERC, WGQ and Retail. On February 3, 2009 the WEQ EC will meet again to review the annual plan and may choose to make additional changes, after which the annual plan will be forwarded to the Board of Directors for approval.

Mr. Buccigross provided the update for the 2009 Wholesale Gas Quadrant Annual Plan. For several items on the annual plan the actual standard development piece is completed, however, there is still a significant amount of work to be done for the technical implementation of the standards. Some items were carried over from last year, including damage reporting for natural gas pipelines. Two items on the annual plan will be addressed by the contracts subcommittee. NAESB updated its base contract and as part of those efforts, various attachments and related agreements need to be updated. The EDI Trading Partner Agreement will also be addressed by the contracts subcommittee. Also on the annual plan is maintenance of over 600 standards, data sets and technical implementations.

Mr. Novak provided the review of the 2009 Retail Quadrants Annual Plan. The next retail publication is planned for second quarter, 2009; some of the model business practices for that publication are included in the annual plan. Other key items include the Trading Partner Agreement, which will be addressed in conjunction with the WGQ. DSM-EE is being addressed alongside the WEQ. Supplier Marketing Practices will also be addressed in the annual plan. This item was added in response to events in New York and Illinois that dealt with customer reactions to marketing techniques, which became a matter of public discourse. This resulted in an effort to develop buyer marketing practices. By developing these standards through the NAESB process the entire industry can participate. The practices are designed to guide those unfamiliar with customer choice.

UPDATE ON RETAIL DSM-EE EFFORTS: Ms. Cummings provided the update on the Retail DSM-EE efforts. The retail work group is currently reviewing the draft recommendation created by the wholesale ISO/RTO work group and will use it as the basis for the retail draft recommendation, making necessary changes to apply to retail. This effort will ensure consistency between the wholesale and retail efforts.

The WEQ EC met yesterday to vote on the WEQ DR recommendation. The vote has been sent out for a notational ballot for absent EC members, due February 10. Should the recommendation pass, it will be sent out for ratification and after approval by the members it will be considered a final action until it is published. This will continue to be a big presence for the 2009 WEQ Annual Plan.

UPDATE ON NAESB EFFORTS ON FERC ORDER NOS. ORDER 890, 890-A AND 890-B: Mr. Wood provided the update. The ESS/ITS subcommittee has been working on FERC Order No. 890. All deadline related items have been completed within their time frame, which includes work groups 1 and 2. Their current focus has been on work group 3 but their upcoming meetings will focus on rollover rights on redirects. The FERC Order No. 890 progress report shows the status of all the projects that ESS/ITS is working on. The goal of the subcommittee is to finish up the work included in groups 4, 5 and 6 by the end of the year. NAESB filed WEQ Version 2 in November and will make a subsequent filing in February for WEQ Version 2.1 to meet the last FERC Order No. 890 deadline. A subsequent WEQ Version 2.2 filing will be made when the non-deadline related work has been completed.

UPDATE ON GAS CONTRACTS: The WGQ contracts subcommittee is working jointly with the EDI subcommittee and the BPS to revise the Trading Partner Agreement. The TPA will be divided into two sections, the agreement (the legal portion) and the worksheet (the technical portion). This work is expected to conclude at the next meeting on February 25, which will meet the first quarter completion date.
