Clarification or interpretation request:

The Capacity Release Offer dataset has a data element which is called "Previously Released Indicator". The definition reads "An indicator which signifies whether there is capacity which was previously released.

Possible interpretations or clarifications, if known:

What this really means, is that released capacity is now being re-released by the replacement, or acquiring shipper. If this is the finding of the interpretations subcommittee, we would now believe a more accurate (and less confusing) definition would read:

“Indicates that this capacity is released capacity that is being re-released by the replacement (acquiring shipper)”.
