INDEPENDENT SOFTWARE REVIEWERS

The North American Energy Standards Board (“NAESB”) maintains a Certification Program based on self-certification. However, on occasion some companies seeking to have their products certified have chosen to hire at their own expense an independent software reviewer (“Reviewer”) to verify their compliance prior to an officer executing the Certification Under Oath. The company hiring the Reviewer is solely responsible for selecting, retaining, compensating, and supervising the Reviewer, and is strongly urged to consider having a non-disclosure agreement with the Reviewer. Accordingly, NAESB is providing the following list of members engaged in the software business who may be of assistance in providing a Reviewer or recommending one. This list does not represent an endorsement by NAESB of the individuals listed.

The use of a Reviewer is voluntary and not a condition for certification.
